VOLUME III, No. 31

Wednesday, May 27, 1981

Minden firefighters were called to the south shore of Lake Kashagawigamog Thursday to battle a brush fire. The blaze started after workmen clearing a cottage site allowed a fire to get out of control. Volunteer Les Hogg is seen dousing the flames.

Boat ramp proposal angers property owners

Plans to install a boat ramp for Gull Lake in a municipal park near Highway 35 at Moore Falls ran into some opposition at the May 21 meeting of Lutterworth Township Council. A delegation of property owners from the lake was on hand to express their opposition to the plan as well as present a petition with close to 200 signatures.

Also on hand for the Thursday meeting was a number of supporters of the ramp, also with a petition, this one bearing 164 signatures.

Paul Bernardo, a property owner on the lake, spoke for those opposed to the installation of the ramp. He cited a number of reasons for his objections including safety problems created by the increased traffic, including danger to swimmers and fishermen in boats. Bernardo said the increased boat traffic would create pollution problems as there are no proper facilities for the people at the park.

"Where are these people going to put their garbage?" he asked. He said the situation could cause fire hazards or result in increased trespassing as day users attempt to find a place ashore for a picnic.

There was some confusion as to the size of the ramp to be installed. While Reeve Ron Gambell admitted the council had not decided on the final design for the facility, there seemed to be some disparity between the general size the council was considering and the size of boats the protesters were expecting the ramp would attract to Gull Lake. Bernardo admitted that his information on the ramp had been based on rumour.

Councillor Bill Valentine said the whole issue had been blown out of proportion.

Councillor Bill Prentice noted that the Ministry of Natural Resources has stocked the lake with fish. "They are working on behalf of all people," Prentice commented. He described the petition's effort at blocking the ramp, as, "...a selfish move," and said the ramp would prove to be a good thing for Lutterworth Township and that section of Haliburton County.

"This is God's best lake in Lutterworth Township," Prentice said, "it is not fair to close it to people just because they don't happen to have property on its shores."

A letter from the Ministry of Natural Resources echoed these sentiments. It noted that the lake was public property and should be accessible to the public. "Public money has been spent to stock the lake and manage its resources," the letter signed by the district manager Don White stated, "it is in the public interest to see it open to everyone."

Policing problems

Constable Brian Dunham of the Minden OPP was on hand for the meeting. He was asked to comment on policing problems in the area. He said the local detachment spends a great deal of time on marine patrol in Gull Lake. He admitted there was a problem with high power boats but said most of the problems experienced so far had related to the operation of boats by cottagers on the lake. He suggested the cottagers "clean up their own act" before accusing others of possibly doing what they are guilty of now.

Reeve Gambell said he believed the ramp would probably be used more by people who own property on the lake than others. He said the facility will be a service for cottage owners in the area. As Gambell pointed out, if the lake becomes crowded with outside boats or visitors do not act in a responsible manner, the township can close the ramp.

"God put the lake there in the first place and he put people here to enjoy it," Grant Morrison a spokesman for those in favour of the ramp told the meeting. He said the lake is owned by the people of Ontario and did not belong exclusively to the people who happen to own property on its shores. Morrison described their efforts to block the ramp as bigoted. "You just want the lake to yourselves," he stated. He pointed out that in most cases the 66 feet of dry land above the high water mark and belongs to the public.

A property owner directly across from the proposed boat ramp, Mr. O'Neill, expressed his concern about the facility. Noting that the portion of Gull Lake was particularly narrow, he said the waterway was restricted now and a difficult location in which to turn a boat. He said the property owners were experiencing erosion problems from waves thrown up by passing boats and that adding a ramp would aggravate the situation. "We even have water skiers who come down into that bay and attempt to turn around," he commented.

O'Neill also challenged the ramp on zoning grounds saying such a facility was not allowed in that area. Later in the meeting the council was told the ramp was a public facility and therefore was acceptable in an area zoned for public use.

Letter from lake association

Before the discussion ended, Dr. William Chambers president of the Gull Lake Cottagers Association, addressed the council. He noted there was a sharp division between the two sides in this matter. "There can be little doubt that the construction of the boat ramp in its proposed location will have a significant adverse impact on the area immediately adjacent to the boat ramp and on the lake as a whole," he commented.

Williams suggested that before the council arrived at a final decision, it convene a public hearing to air both sides of the argument. He noted that several years ago a similar proposal for a boat ramp was defeated. "At that time those in favour of the ramp were upset because they felt they had not had their say. We should ensure the same thing doesn't happen again, this time for those opposed," he told the meeting.

Reeve Ron Gambell told those in attendance that the council would study the suggestion and that for the moment, no decision would be made on the installation of the boat ramp.

Grant received

An interim grant of $78,000 has been received by the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden from Wintario to help cover the cost of the new curling rink and recreation centre. The money arrived at the municipal office last week close to two months after the lottery organization had promised the money would be made available for the project.

In last week's edition of The Times a front page article and editorial on page four, commented on the Wintario grant. In both items there were a number of errors and misconceptions on the part of the writer. For a clarification of the situation, please turn to page two.

County council wants more say in health committee selection

A resolution urging the District Health Council to reconsider the methods of appointment to the steering committee studying the transfer of Minden and Haliburton hospitals from Red Cross control has been endorsed by Haliburton County council. The motion was approved at the May 20 meeting.

The resolution calls on the council to include representatives of the Red Cross Societies in both communities on the steering committee. Warden Murray Fearrey commented that these individuals were not specifically included in the steering committee. "We don't want to discourage the members of the Red Cross committees," he commented. "We'll need these people when the hospitals are turned over to the municipalities."

When the health council announced the make-up of the steering committee last month, a number of positions were assigned to various interest groups, such as the medical community or elected representatives, but no mention was made of Red Cross Society members. The groups in each community have been actively involved in the operation of the hospitals up to this point.

At the April meeting Fearrey asked a spokesman for the health council if the local Red Cross societies could be represented on the steering committee. He was told that their appointment to the committee could come through the vacancies left for the general public.

The second part of the County Council resolution sought to have representatives from Anson, Hindon and Minden and Dysart et al township councils included in the group to select the members of the steering committee.

"The councils should have a voice in the selection of representatives," the Warden told the meeting. "I don't think a matter of this importance should be left up to someone in Peterborough, who might not know the people who will be applying for the seats on the committee."

The council endorsed the resolution which will be forwarded to the health council in Peterborough.

Kashagawigamog & Soyers lakes

Survey finds 66% of lakeshore sewage systems need attention

Close to 66% of the sewage disposal systems on the shores of the west end of Lake Kashagawigamog and Soyers Lake have been described as seriously substandard or causing some form of pollution to the lakes and shoreline. This was the finding of a study carried out last year by the Ministry of the Environment. A report on the study was released last week.

The report found that 44% of the 273 sewage systems on the shores of the west end of Kashagawigamog (the eastern end of the lake was surveyed last year) were seriously substandard. According to the MOE rating system, the "seriously substandard" classification is used to identify systems which do not meet current standards for design, construction, location or are in a state of neglect. The classification notes that the system may not be causing pollution, however a potential hazard exists. Owners of systems described as seriously substandard are advised by the ministry that they should consider updating their system in the near future.

Other findings for the lake showed that 13.2% (or 36) were creating a nuisance problem by the leakage of wash water; 3.3% (or 9) were identified as leaking solid waste while 4.8% (or 13) systems were direct polluters of the land and surrounding land. Of the systems examined by the MOE 22 (or 8%) were unclassified.

The study also revealed that 7.3% of the systems on the shores of Kashagawigamog, 20 in number, were operating satisfactorily while 51 or 18.7%, while operating in a satisfactory manner, located the proper distance from the lake and well, and maintained in a good condition, may not meet current design standards.

On Soyers Lake, where 142 systems were examined, 44.4% (or 63) systems were judged to be seriously substandard; 18 (or 12.7%) were leaking wash water; 6 (or 4.1%) were leaking solid waste while 5 (or 3.5%) were direct polluters of the lake. The MOE was unable to classify five of the Soyers Lake systems.

Over the past winter despite unusual conditions including the February breakup all the reservoir lakes filled to an average 98% by April 17. This declined to 96.5% by May 7, and rose to 102.5% by May 15 due to two days of heavy rain. On May 19 the storage depth average had returned to 100%.

The Kawartha Lakes have been held somewhat overfilled yet to give a good start to the summer in case of very dry conditions. This does of course carry an increased risk of further increases if heavy rains happen again, as it does in the reservoir lakes as long as the surplus lasts.

High flows one week ago (May 15) made the first day and weekend of lock operations for 1981 a good test for boaters in some river sections of the canal route. A precautionary notice was issued with a possibility of closure of some sections of the Waterway if rains returned and/or flow velocities increased. Thankfully the sunny, dry weather of the long weekend made any closures unnecessary. Further flow reductions this week have improved these conditions as well.

Interest on rink payments to be returned when Wintario grant arrives

An article and editorial appearing in last week's edition of The Times described a number of problems associated with a Wintario grant which had been approved for the construction of the new Minden curling rink. That article noted that the municipality had paid over $9400 in interest to borrow money used to pay the rink contractors, while the application for funds from the lottery was tied up in red tape.

The article said the interest on the borrowed money was being paid by the municipality through an earlier agreement with the curling rink building committee.

A number of facts were wrong in this story, and we hope now to be able to set the record straight.

The members of the Minden Curling Club applied for a Wintario grant last year to cover the construction of the new rink. When the group received approval for the grant, it was told that funds would not be available until April 1 of this year.

According to club president, Jim Garbutt, the building committee sought the opinion of the contractor as to how much extra it would cost to wait until this spring to begin construction of the new facility. The builder suggested the extra cost could be between $20,000 and $30,000.

The committee decided that rather than wait until this year to begin construction, when the Wintario money would be available, it would be cheaper to borrow the financing needed, and they decided to start construction last fall. Anticipating the cost of borrowing, the committee included in the Wintario grant application an amount of $12,000 to cover interest payments.

At the same time the club obtained an agreement from the municipality, in whose name the grant was applied for and the loans made for payment to the contractors, that the cost of borrowing the interim financing would be repaid from the grant received from Wintario.

It is with this understanding that a $9400 interest debt has been incurred up to this point by the municipality.

Wintario has been slow in making its first payment, which was promised for April 1 of this year. In being late it has caused some concern regarding the extra interest the curling club will be responsible for covering.

Up to this point the township has used its finances to cover the construction costs of the new structure, but according to the club's president, that money will be repaid when the Wintario grants arrive.

While Wintario can be faulted for being almost two months late in making its first payment for the project, the lottery cannot be blamed for any lack of funding for the building up to April 1.

Wednesday, May 27, 1981

and, if everything is in order, a new classification is assigned. According to the ministry, in most cases property owners are co-operative and eager to make the improvements.

Copies of the report, which includes three other lakes surveyed in Muskoka District, is available by contacting the Muskoka-Haliburton District Office of the Ministry of Environment, Gravenhurst.

Tenders opened

A special committee has been formed by Lutterworth Township to consider tenders received for the purchase of a six cylinder, automatic pick-up truck. The tenders were opened at the council's regular meeting, May 21.

Since Reeve Ron Gambell was one of those bidding on the sale, he left the room when the tenders were opened and discussed.

The tenders were received from: Frontier Motors at $7957; Kashaga Ford at $6578; Curry Motors at $7504; Gambell Motor Sales at $6962; and Coneybeare Motors at $9150.

Several councillors expressed concern that the vehicle might not be delivered before June 30, when the sales tax rebate program for light trucks was due to expire. The provincial government has since extended the program until later this year. There was also some concern that not all tenders met the specifications laid down in the tender call. The committee is expected to report at the next meeting of council.

Share the bus reeve suggests

Chairman of the Hyland Crest board of management, Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell has agreed to examine the possibility of allowing residents of Extencare Nursing Home in Haliburton to use the bus based at the Minden home.

The matter was raised at the May 20 meeting of Haliburton County Council by Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison. He noted that a group in Haliburton and area is currently raising funds to purchase a bus for use by Extencare residents. Harrison pointed out that this will involve a large expenditure and suggested some sort of co-operative effort should be made to share the present bus now at Hyland Crest.

Gambell told the meeting that the suggestion had been before the board of management in the past, but for some reason it wasn't accepted. He said the board had experienced problems in the past when the Haliburton nursing home used the bus.

The chairman noted that the bus is now available for rent by various groups in the county. The bus is rented for $10 per hour with a driver, $5 per hour if the organization provides its own driver, plus 25¢ per mile. He said his council in Lutterworth recently rented the bus for a road tour of the township.

Gambell also noted that the bus gets limited use at the home, not because programs are not offered for the residents which include the bus, but because many residents are cautious about leaving the home. He noted that because of the limited use, the tires on the bus are deteriorating badly.

Reeve Harrison suggested the board of management might consider readjusting the rental fees if the users supplied their own gas. He emphasized the bus should be used more in the county.

Warden Murray Fearrey, noted that the bus had been purchased for Hyland Crest and many residents contributed to the fund. "They feel it is their bus," he commented.

Harrison said donations for the Hyland Crest bus came from all parts of the county and suggested it should get more use outside of the home in Minden.

Is this meeting necessary?

"Is this meeting really necessary?"

That was the comment of Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison as he glanced over the agenda before him at the May 20 meeting of Haliburton County Council.

He pointed out that the holding of a meeting was an expensive process requiring the payment of mileage fees to reeves and deputy reeves from all corners of the county. He said he couldn't justify a meeting being called on such a light agenda and suggested if meetings were only called when the amount of business warranted, the county might save several thousand dollars during the year.

Warden Murray Fearrey agreed the matter should be looked into but commented that he felt the council was required by by-law to meet on a regular basis. It was also pointed out that the council had to endorse the county financial report this month, a priority item.

Despite what Reeve Harrison termed a light agenda, the meeting lasted past the usual 12 noon adjournment time.

Council ponders full county status

A rose is a rose is a rose, but is a "provisional" county, such as exists in Haliburton, less than a real county.

That was the question posed by (Provisional) Haliburton County Warden Murray Fearrey at the May 20 council meeting.

Fearrey pointed out that this is the only provisional county in Ontario and noted it has had that status for 107 years. "We've shown in that time that we can carry on the responsibilities of a county, are we content to allow the provisional status to remain?" he asked the councillors.

One of the main reasons the county was first formed was to finance the extension of a rail line to Haliburton Village. Since the area lacked in population and wealth, the Ontario government granted Haliburton provisional status, vesting many traditional county powers with the local council, but holding back on some, mainly legal, which rest with Victoria County.

The warden suggested the area should take on full county status or perhaps consider the possibility of becoming a district. "I for one am not proud that we have still retained our provisional status," Fearrey told the meeting.

He suggested the council should send a delegation to discuss the matter with the provincial authorities to determine if there are benefits to be gained from a change in status. He noted that the cost of education is increasing and that the local area will soon have to take over responsibility for the operation of the two hospitals. He indicated there might be extra funds available for these and other areas if the Highlands became a full county.

A number of members of the council agreed that the matter should be studied to ascertain if the county would benefit in a change in status.

Editorial

A selfish attitude

The concerned cottagers of Gull Lake who appeared before Lutterworth Township council last Thursday to protest the installation of a boat ramp made a number of interesting points during their presentation.

They noted that washroom facilities were currently inadequate at the proposed ramp site; that non-property owners could create problems by trespassing on private lakeshore property; or will leave litter and smouldering picnic fires in their wake; or that the day visitors will be "hot road" boaters with little or no concern for the safety of other boats, swimmers or fishermen.

All valid points, but they overlook an issue which we think should take precedence over any objection. The lakes of Ontario are the property of all taxpayers. Everyone in Ontario is entitled to enjoy the recreational opportunity the lake offers, its tranquility, its resources. Just because these people do not own lakefront property in the lake is no reason they should be denied access to it. Indeed, the township has an obligation to provide access points and promote their use.

The council has indicated it still favours the ramp, although the matter has been taken under advisement. These councillors who spoke in favour deserve congratulations from all who do not own property on Gull Lake but who one day may want to enjoy the beautiful lake.

Reeve Ron Gambell noted, that ironically it would probably be the cottagers who would make the most use of the facility as they launch and retrieve their boats each year.

The attitude expressed by the cottagers who were opposed to the ramp is selfish to say the least. With proper supervision, facilities at the ramp site, and a proper attitude on the part of all concerned should ensure the ramp will be an asset to the lake township and county.

Ontario's parks system is in trouble. At a four-day conference held earlier this month at the University of Waterloo, speaker after speaker pointed out examples of park policies being ignored, of new parks thwarted by the demands of industry, and of budgets so small that existing parks are losing their attractiveness.

It is obvious that parks have not been a high priority for the Ministry of Natural Resources. Since 1971, MNR budgets as a whole have tripled, mostly in the forestry and mines area. Parks budgets have barely increased at all, meaning in effect that inflation has caused a real decline of 8 or 9% a year. Despite a new parks policy in 1978, Ontario has created no new wilderness parks in the past decade, and the expansion of other parks, to protect natural features or provide recreational opportunities, has been very slow.

In the minds of many conference delegates, the blame for these problems lies with senior officials of MNR, who make the key decisions on budgets and allocation of Crown land. One of the solutions suggested was the creation of an Ontario Parks Trust, which would take over the responsibility for parks from the Ministry, and administer this role independently, similar to the existing Niagara Parks Commission. The Trust would be charged with the completion of the parks system, which would include eight new wilderness parks as well as new wild river, nature reserve, and recreation parks scattered across the province.

The idea of a Parks Trust is not endorsed by MNR officials, who would be reluctant to lose a popular part of their program. But setting up an independent body for parks, and eliminating much of the overlapping bureaucracy, could make the parks program much more efficient. A resolution tabled at the conference suggested that the Parks Trust could be financially self-sufficient within ten years, assuming that the major expansions in land area were completed by then.

The Parks Trust could also be more effective at fending off the demands of the extractive industries since the all-important decisions on land allocation would be brought into the open instead of being made behind the closed doors of the civil service.

1981 has seen the lowest point in the fortunes of Ontario's park system for the past 20 years. A change is needed, and the creation of the Ontario Parks Trust may be just the impetus to once again place our parks amongst the finest in the world.

With reference to your article in the May 20th, 1981 edition of the newspaper - 'Petition Blocks Race Track Plans for Park'.

Please be advised that at this time the Kinsmen Club of Minden have never considered being involved in this proposed race track, however, we are not against it if it would better the Community. In the article "it is said that the backers of the race track are the same persons who dug the ditches and left them and their mounds of dirt in the swampy part of Minden Park".

Firstly, this is not news but gossip, as Kinsmen have nothing to do with the Race Track. Secondly, the mounds of dirt had to be left because of the wet conditions, as it is a swamp, which has recently been considered as was quoted above as a Park.

Because a concerned citizen, who is also a Kinsmen, projects his idea to Council on the Race Track - why should it be surmised that the Club he belongs to is involved?

Regarding the Park - for point of information we are still working to change it from a swamp to a useful Park Area. However we have learned through mistakes of others - that the old saying "Haste Makes Waste" still holds.

Former resident sculpts runner

A former Minden resident has been commissioned to sculpt a likeness of marathon runner Terry Fox.

George Pratt started working on the project recently and was featured in a photograph which appeared in the Friday edition of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Fox, who ran almost half way across Canada to help raise money for cancer research, will be shown in the granite likeness in full stride. The young runner touched the hearts of Canadians with his valiant effort which was cut short when his cancer became active again. Fox had his right leg amputated as a result of the disease and made his historic run with the aid of an artificial limb.

George Pratt was born and raised in Minden, attending Archie Stouffer Elementary School and HHSS. He took up stone sculpting as a hobby while living here and was also involved in jewellery making. He moved to western Canada where he has been involved with stone work, sculpting and refinishing building facades.

The work isn't necessarily finished once the fire is out. Minden volunteer Les Hogg drags a hose uphill to the pumper after extinguishing a brush fire on the south shore of Lake Kashagawigamog.

So much for majority government

- by John Eakins, MPP -

Last Tuesday, the Ontario Conservative Treasurer, Frank Miller, introduced the 1981-82 budget for Ontario.

Mr. Miller had forewarned us that the budget would not be a "sunshine" budget, but little did we expect the ordinary consumer and working person to be hit so hard. Mr. Miller intends to raise the provincial income tax rate from 44% to 48% which will increase revenue by 22%; he proposes to increase his gas tax revenue by 21%, and he has also increased OHIP premiums by 15%.

It is estimated that these tax increases and others mentioned in the budget will cost Ontario consumers an estimated $1 billion per year more. (Toronto Star, May 20,

The new tax structure for gasoline that Bill Davis and his Government have implemented will mean that every time the price of crude oil rises, the Davis Government will profit at least as much as the Lougheed Government in Alberta. For example, under the National Energy Program, the price of crude oil will increase at least $4.50 per barrel in 1981, 1982, 1983. Of the $4.50 increase each year, the federal government will receive $2.50 off the top in a form of a revenue tax to cover the cost of subsidizing eastern Canadian consumers. The remaining $2.00 per barrel will be reflected in increased well-head prices. The Government of Alberta will receive about 80¢ per barrel out of the $2.00 while the Davis Government will receive $1.12 per barrel per year.

Therefore, while the Davis Conservative Government speaks of keeping oil prices down they have implemented a program whereby the Ontario Treasury will profit greatly every time oil prices increase; a highly contradictory action.

Further, a matter which is of concern to all Ontario citizens is the Ontario deficit. Even with these tax increases, Ontario's tax deficit will approach approximately $1 billion for this fiscal year. The Ontario Conservative promise of balancing the budget is nowhere to be found in the Budget document. It will now cost $5 million per day just to pay the interest on our debt.

The most unfair part of the budget is that while ordinary Ontario citizens are being asked to pay more and more, Mr. Miller and his Conservative colleagues have decided that there should be no increase in the tax rate for Ontario corporations, an unjust proposition.

So much for majority governments. These are the realities of March 19. Push the taxes to the working man and then give concessions just before the next election.

Under a minority Government, this budget could not have happened.

Minden took a short-sighted view of a suggested multi-purpose track at the Minden Fair Grounds.

It is agreed that there are certain types of racing that do not lend themselves to an area within the community, i.e. drag races, stock car racing, dirt bike racing, to name several, because of the noise levels created. No one can be blamed for objecting to a ten foot high board fence behind their property. I most certainly would be first in line to object to a board wall at the back of my property. However, types of races to be allowed would be under Municipal jurisdiction and strictly controlled by permit only.

A good multi-use type track of one half mile measure would provide an excellent training ground for our young athletes instead of having them run beside the highway. It would be an excellent place for field meets or summer invitational games, where various events other than foot races could be held in the core area of the track.

A soccer field (if we could arouse any interest) or a playing field for touch football, field hockey or whatever, could be a real asset to the young people of the community. Attractions that would undoubtedly add to the economy of the area are, antique car shows, flea markets, inter-camp competitions during the summer months and land that now sits vacant most of the year would become productive.

It is a proven fact that the Winter Car races on ice (3 races per year only), the Kinsmen Demolition Derby (1 afternoon) and the Winter Carnival with Snowmobile Trails (2 days) have been a success and attracted a large crowd and brought thousands of dollars into the town and have not been a nuisance factor. I, personally was apprehensive about the car races on ice initially, but the first two years when the races were held within a short distance of my property (during the daytime only) soon dispelled any apprehensions. The cars have a muffler rule which can be exercised and the individual racers are impressive, serious individuals - professional and business people in their respective communities. No one could be more adamant against nightly stock car races, motorcycle races, drag races etc. than myself but let's face it, we presently have them up and down Bobcaygeon Road with a group of irresponsible individuals who squeal tires all hours of the night and day, do power turns, speed, etc., who have nothing better to do than consume alcohol in their cars and drive like maniacs and create finger-pointing at two local business people who have no control over the situation and the O.P.P. who already have a work load that is astronomical.

It is indeed unfortunate that a 'suggestion' that may have merit with thorough discussion and appeasement to all concerned deteriorated into some finger-pointing, hopefully through ignorance of facts at the Kinsmen Club and a former member of the Recreation Committee (also a Kinsman) who has the community interest at heart.

The area referred to in the petition, 'Minden Park' ditches etc. will eventually become an exercise park (Participark). Through the process of drainage and lack of funds and the weather not co-operating it has taken time to develop what will be a beautiful park for family involvement in promoting physical fitness. This hopefully will be a tourist attraction as well as a place where one can get physical exercise (all ages). If one cared to look around one could see rest stations and equipment waiting to be assembled but several problems have to be resolved first. Only $17,000 have been spent to date.

It may be a place that before too long we can point to with pride. Hopefully our Fair Grounds can also have the same designation in lieu of an open field that creates very little employment in the community.

Gordon Monk,
Minden.

Green Thumb corner

Anyone familiar with the Haliburton Highlands need not be told about the beauty of a tree. However, Harold R. Crawford, of the University of Guelph, suggests if you are planning to plant some new trees this year, you should consider flowering trees, many of which are now in bloom throughout the area.

Our second offering in the corner this week points out important steps to keep those trees in tip top shape. Burk McNeil of the soils and crops branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food offers a number of tips to ensure the continued health of the new trees.

Flowering trees

If you are thinking of planting a tree this year, remember it doesn't cost any more to select one with showy flowers. The flowers may only last a week or two, but the memory of that display lasts a lifetime.

There are flowering trees available to suit large, open spaces or the small city lot, and there are varieties for all inhabited areas of Ontario.

If your yard needs a large tree, consider the horse-chestnut with its large spikes of white flowers in May. And if the seed or conker is a concern, choose the seedless, double-flowering, Baumann horse-chestnut. If you prefer red flowers and a smaller tree, there is the ruby-red horse-chestnut. Other large trees with showy flowers are the black locust, northern catalpa and the tulip tree.

Lower-growing flowering trees abound, and the flowering crab apples are the most popular. Studies reveal that many flowering crabs, popular in the past, are very susceptible to scab or other diseases. For good appearance the rest of the year, avoid these unless you are prepared to maintain a spray program. Some of the problem cultivars are Hopa, Eley and Almey crabs.

Among the recommended types, less susceptible to disease, are: the Japanese crab, with pink buds, white flowers and small red and yellow fruits; Siberian crab with white flowers and abundant useable, red or yellow fruit; Profusion, featuring deep-red buds, opening to purplish-red, and young leaves are coppery-crimson. It too has useable fruit, which are ox-blood red in color. Sargent's crab, the smallest of the lot, reaches only 2.4 metres (8 feet) in height, and features small, white and fragrant flowers and small, dark-red, long-lasting fruit.

The cherries are another interesting group. In southern parts of Ontario, the double Japanese flowering Kwanzan cherry is hardy, and a lovely sight when displaying its large, double pink bloom. The Sargent cherry is hardier, larger, and presents masses of single pink flowers in April. Also for milder parts of Ontario, consider the flowering dogwood or the golden chain tree. Here too, nothing quite matches the saucer magnolia for May bloom.

Some of the hawthorns have both showy fruit and flowers. One of the best for fruit, flower, fall color and disease resistance is the Washington thorn. Forms of the English hawthorn are attractive, but some, like the double, red-flowered Paul's Scarlet, are subject to disease and may be leafless most of the summer. Crimson Cloud is a recent red-flowered introduction with disease resistance.

Yellowwood is a fine, small tree with smooth grey bark, lively green leaves and cascades of fragrant white flowers in June. The Japanese tree lilac is lower growing, to perhaps 8 metres (26 feet), and carries masses of creamy-white flowers in late June. The cultivar, Ivory Silk, an improved type introduced by Sheridan Nurseries, features good form and a more compact growth habit. Another white-flowered small tree or large shrub is the downy service-berry, a small, but beautiful native tree. The flowers appear in early May before the leaves. Edible purple berries are ripe by June, and are attractive to the birds. Other features are a showy, orange-yellow fall color and ornamental smooth, grey bark. The bark is attractive in all seasons.

For an early-flowering yellow tree or large shrub, about 5 metres (16 feet), consider the Cornelian-Cherry. The name is deceiving because although it has acid, cherry-like fruit in August, it is really a dogwood. Its yellow flowers appear in April. Individually the flowers are minute, but in mass they are a welcome relief from the leafless, flowerless landscape.

Don't overlook fruit trees as flowering trees. They all feature showy, spring flowers and come in dwarf or standard sizes. Be prepared, though, for extra effort. They require regular spraying to protect the fruit from insects and disease.

Tree care

Trees are very tough characters. They can stand a lot of abuse and still survive. However, if you want your newly planted tree to grow rapidly and vigorously, a little bit of special care is required. This special care does not require a lot of time, and mainly involves using a little common sense.

The first summer after planting is the most critical period in the growth of the tree. It must develop a good root system. Once the root system is developed, the chances of the tree growing rapidly increase greatly.

Several conditions can affect the tree's development during the first season, but water, weed control and staking are the most critical. Newly planted trees require water regularly during the first summer, particularly during the hot, dry periods of July and August. Water once a week. A good soaking is important. The roots are usually 30 to 40 cm (12 to 16 in.) deep in the soil, and it's easy to become bored holding the hose watching the water soak away or run off onto the grass. Consequently, this method of watering is seldom thorough enough. It is best to let the sprinkler run for some time to allow the water to penetrate deeply into the root system. Do not overwater, as this, particularly in heavy, poorly-drained soils, can be just as harmful to the plants as under watering.

Weeds and grass compete directly with the tree for water and nutrients. Keep the area around the tree free of weeds and grasses. This allows the rain and your own watering to soak quickly to the roots. If weeds are allowed to grow up to the base of the tree, they use most of the moisture before the tree gets a chance at it.

Another good reason to keep grass away from the trunk is to prevent "lawnmoweritis". Most of us are a bit lazy, and we try to let the lawnmower cut all the grass just as close to the tree as possible. This is O.K. for us, but too often the frame of the mower rubs the base of the tree. After a few trips around the tree, there is no bark left.

The tree cannot feed properly, and eventually weakens and dies.

Many of the trees planted today were dug with a tree spade or potted at the garden centre. These trees must be staked the first summer. If they are not, the wind moves the tree and root around in the ground, breaking the new roots as they grow. This prevents the tree from feeding properly, and slows its growth and vigor.

Insect and disease control is also important, but the first year this is generally not a problem. You must be observant though. If any of these pests appear, they should be controlled quickly.

Trees are tough and can survive in some strange locations, but if we expect them to grow quickly and provide shade during the summer, we must provide a little extra care the first season. Once they are well established, they will grow quickly and fend for themselves.

Report on Minden's new library - cultural centre

Submitted by the Minden Library-Cultural Centre Committee

There are always on going projects to make money. At present we have an afghan to raffle and are selling wooden name plaques for a "conversational piece" placed on the hallway wall in the new building. Buy one for the family for $10.00.

If we don't open July 1, 1981, we shall do so shortly there after.

The following is a general synopsis of our present state of finances:

On going name plaque sales, $125.00.

Coin jars, (7 places in Minden), $276.94.

In memoriam gifts, $130.00.

Proceeds from sale of donated articles, $150.00.

Donated utilities to art and common room, $475.51.

Donations to Minden Library - Culture Centre, $2,699.30.

Donations specified for library area, $580.53.

Donations specified for art area, $13,705.00.

Four local businesses donated, $450.00.

Eight Canadian corporations donated, $2,770.00.

Five local organizations donated, $1,878.25.

R. Penfold's skateathon, $82.50.

Minden Library - Culture Centre Committee projects, $4,286.48.

Term deposits and bank interest on proceeds, $2,933.78.

Ministry of Culture & Recreation - 1) Feasibility study grant, $300.00.

2) Capital grant for visual and creative art, $25,000.00.

Haliburton County 1980 grant, $3,000.00.

Total: $58,843.29.

The only tax levied money in this statement is the $3,000.00. This means the committee of the Minden Library - Cultural centre have, through many people's generosity, raised about $56,000.00 tax free dollars toward this project.

The art acquisition committee have accepted 9 oil paintings, 1 watercolour and 4 etchings done by 4 individuals to the permanent collection. The appraiser Mr. Blair Laing, a recognized government evaluator, has placed a value of $3,100.00 on these additional paintings.

We would like to acknowledge our indebtedness to many people and to convey our thanks. So many have been generous and helpful. Help us celebrate at the Library and Cultural centre when it opens.

We hope the older citizens shall enjoy not having to climb stairs to Horticultural and Institute meetings in the 18 x 37 feet common room.

Notice also that there are already $39,180.51 tax free dollars for the art section area. Much of the above money has already been used to finance the building.

Everything is up for grabs

It is not necessarily the big thefts which occupy most of a policeman's time, even though they most often grab the lion's share of the headlines.

The proof of that situation was offered this past week when Community Relations Officer Gary Chapman, provided the media with a list of thefts the police were called to investigate during the past week.

While most of the items and their value may seem relatively insignificant, the fact that these items were taken, probably caused inconvenience for the owners, and in some cases the loss of a memento or keepsake which held much greater value for the owner than the assessment offered.

Here is a sampling of the items removed illegally from homes, cottages and businesses in the Highlands this past week:

- a water pump from a cottage at Haliburton Lake, $175.
- a canoe from Pine Lake near Gooderham, $500.
- a bicycle from outside a residence in Minden, $75.

-a telephone and antique plates from a cottage on Canning Lake, $800.

-four wheel discs from a car at Curry Motors parking lot, $148.

-tools from a shed at Salerno Lake, $95.

-two speakers from a parked car at Minden Texaco, $150.

-fishing tackle and firearms from a cottage on Big Hawk Lake, $500.

-household goods from a cottage on Highway 519 in Snowdon Township, $200.

-windsurfer removed from the lobby of Pinestone Inn (and later recovered in the parking lot), $500.

-two boats from a cottage on Big Hawk Lake, $600.

outboard motor cover from Minto Marine in Minden, $40.

The list points out it is not just luxury, high value items which thieves will take and that extra precautions can often remove the temptation for an individual to take something which does not belong to him.

The cast and crew of the Highlands Little Theatre's latest production, A Shot In The Dark, spent Sunday dressing the stage at the high school. The play, a rollicking adult comedy, will be staged this Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

Acid rain problem continues

The following report on the activities of the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee was prepared by Sonya Holliday-Rhodes.

For the information of those of your readers who have been following the public debates on acid rain, may we present a brief resume of recent disclosures and advances that have come to our notice. Most of the new literature on the subject results from a joint U.S./Canada environmental analysis that was prepared particularly for presentation to the new administration in the U.S.A.

As you are aware, Mr. Reagan's new team have downgraded environmental concerns, particularly as they affect industrial efficiency. This shows, in fact, that they are quite willing to sacrifice environmental protection laws where industry exhibits any reluctance to co-operate. This spells more and more acid-bearing particulates in our atmosphere and higher and higher pH readings in our waters. The report is an attempt to show Reagan that the ultimate cost of such folly will make the scuttling of the "Clean Air Act" a national disaster for both countries. Whether he will either understand or react, is problematical.

The data assembled in this report show that the gloomy forecasts of the eventual loss of our aquatic biospheres are valid and that there will also be an eventual loss of part of our forests and much of our warm-blooded fauna. There is also a real hazard to human health in the increasing levels of metallic ions in our water systems and the effect of contained acids on metal water carrying pipes. The whole picture is not yet totally clear but the prognosis based on even sketchy data, is very discouraging.

For obvious reasons, the report omitted any discussion of "liming". The omission was calculated. It was feared that such information might lead the U.S. administration to conclude that they had an "out" and simple funding of such a program would relieve the pressure for more fundamental reforms.

On the brighter side, your group learned from Dr. T. Brydges of the Ontario Ministry of the Environment (MOE) that the promise given last year concerning our "liming" proposals, will be undertaken this year. Liming of test lakes will be proceeded with, and our group will be allowed to witness the work at the site. We have also been invited to attend meetings with the M.O.E. and to have our technical programs listened to and evaluated. The M.O.E. will also discuss the overall thrust of their new programs with us with the understanding that we will report to your readers as the new data become available.

However, we have also some data on hand, supplied by the M.O.E. that originated in the Swedish and Norwegian research programs, that add some new and disturbing facets to the "liming" process.

Swedish work with captive fish populations, has demonstrated that moving water systems even when treated extensively with ground limestone, still show extreme "acid-shock" symptoms when encountering heavy acid type rainfall. What is more disturbing, the fish populations showed extensive death rates at these points in time.

Although the work is still going on and much more data will be required, initial conclusions are that moving water systems or lakes with high turnover rates cannot be saved by "liming" procedures presently contemplated. In fact we may yet find that only a minority of our water systems are amenable to the "liming" process. We will report any future developments in this area as they occur.

We are in the process of preparing a report on the parameters of the metal ion problem as disclosed in research papers put out by the Swedish Research teams. In our eyes, this problem is even more alarming than any of the other related problems inherent in "acid-rain". We feel that both the Federal and Provincial environmental ministries must soon address themselves to a thorough investigation of the technical import of this phenomenon.

We welcome any public input or help in our work and we will share all our data with any interested public group.

9 H.H.S.S. athletes off to Kingston

Nine athletes from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School will be taking part in five events in the Eastern Ontario Regional Track and Field trials this week in Kingston. The five led the HHSS team to a third place finish in the Central Ontario Secondary School championship last week in Oshawa.

The five include Marla MacNaull who placed second in the 400 meters, and fourth in the long jump in the junior girls competition; Scott Mitchell taking second spot in the pole vault for midget boys; Margie Newton who placed fourth in high jump for senior girls; and Signe Tashlin, Eileen Henderson, Margie Newton and Marla MacNaull who qualified in the open girls 1600 meter relay.

The top five finishers in the COSSA elimination were selected for the regional competition.

Those who finish among the top five in the regional contest will qualify for the Ontario finals set for June 4 and 5 in Thunder Bay. The Eastern Ontario regional competition will see athletes from COSSA, the Ottawa Valley and the Eastern Ontario Secondary School divisions competing at Queen's University campus.

Other members of the executive include Christine Lynd vice president, Laurie Roberts secretary, Mike Easton treasurer, and Glen Carter will continue on the executive as past president.

Tax info sessions set for July 25

Property owners, and particularly cottagers, in Haliburton County will have an opportunity to question Ontario Revenue Ministry officials about changes in their property taxes which may have taken place this year.

That was the word brought to the May 20 meeting of Haliburton County Council by the assistant deputy minister from that department, W.J. Lettner. He told the meeting the minister plans to hold two open houses this summer at which staff from his department will be on hand to answer questions about property assessment. Similar open houses were held last year and were well attended. However, it was noted that the information sessions were held in the winter when many cottagers were not in the area.

Most of the townships in the county have recently undergone reassessment under section 86 of the Municipal Act. While some property owners were given a reduction in their taxes, others discovered early this year they would be paying more, a lot more in the case of owners of vacant land.

The sessions, one in Minden, the other in Haliburton, will be held Saturday, July 25 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Lettner, who told the meeting his ministry wanted to, "take the mystery out of assessment," said this will be the only summer open house to be held in the province. He commented that if it proves to be popular here, it could be tried in other areas with large summer populations.

He also noted that it is past the date when property owners can appeal the assessment assigned to their property for this year. However, once the owners have the reasons behind the changes, they will be prepared to appeal, if they feel it is necessary, next year.

The assistant deputy minister said efforts will be made to inform all area residents of the open houses, with various lake associations being contacted and advertisement placed in local papers.

Seniors win opening pair

The 1981 Haliburton County Ladies Softball League season got underway last Monday evening with Haliburton playing host to the Minden Seniors.

At the end of the fourth inning Haliburton had a 10-4 lead but the Minden ladies fought back to score 18 runs in the last three innings to win 22-12.

The winning pitcher was Andrea Burk while Nancy Maughan took the loss. The Minden Seniors were led at the plate by Wendy Gough and Marg Fielding.

On Tuesday night the Seniors were at home to Gooderham. The Seniors got eleven runs in the first inning and never looked back to go on to win 22-13.

Anne Hewson got the win with relief help from Andrea Burk. The Seniors were led at the plate by Lynne Osynchuck and Rhonda Wilson.

Council backs HCSA

Haliburton County Council has endorsed the efforts of the local snowmobile association to complete a bridge over the Irondale River. The council was asked for its support in a letter sent by the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association and read at the May 20 meeting.

In the letter, the HCSA noted the bridge will connect important portions of the local trail system which leads snowmobilers from the newly created Sno 1 and Sno 2 routes.

According to the association, the preliminary work has been carried out, but the Ministry of Natural Resources has announced that there are no more funds available to complete the project. The HCSA said the MNR had backed the work of the local group to this point and were disappointed completion of the project would have to be delayed because of the funding problem.

The snowmobilers asked the council to convey their concerns to MNR, in hopes that additional funding could be found for the project.

The long weekend brought many families and friends to the residents of Hyland Crest. Many folk enjoyed the day on Monday relaxing after a busy weekend.

Tuesday morning Rev. Douglas Miller of Minden United Church held service in the Chapel. Agnes Taylor played the organ while Barbara Trocewicz led in the singing of old favourite hymns.

Later in the afternoon several people gathered in the main lounge for a game of Bingo. Many of our residents enjoy and look forward to the weekly bingo games. We would like to thank the Kinsmen for holding the bingo here on Thursday evening.

Tuesday evening, Mr. Ray Jenkins entertained for music night. Everyone always enjoys his lively piano music.

Wednesday evening the students from Haliburton High School were here to assist and play games with our residents. We had a real good turnout and everyone thoroughly enjoyed their games of euchre, cribbage and crokinole.

We had our regular fun and fitness program Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings and as usual everyone had a lot of fun while exercising their bodies.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of West Guilford Gospel Church served a delicious assortment of sandwiches, muffins and tea loaf. Our thanks to the ladies for the lovely lunch and to Kim Brown for entertaining us with her piano music after the tea.

We were pleased to welcome Grace Coburn back to lead the Sing Song on Friday afternoon. Grace has been on holidays touring the western provinces. It is nice to have Grace back to lead us in our favourite songs.

Fred Ballard accompanied the singing on the organ.

I would like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Nettie Wilson and Mrs. Irene Houghton who have spent many hours at home making beautiful shawls, cushions and lap covers made from the squares which were knitted by our ladies at Hyland Crest. These beautiful hand crafted items have certainly been a welcome addition to our Bazaars. Also, we would like to wish Mrs. Houghton a speedy recovery from a recent illness.

Patricia Lindsay brandishes a battle axe during a scene from The Lion, The Witch and The Wardrobe. Appearing with Pat was Den Dodd hidden momentarily under the king's head. The pair, from Erewhow Theatre of Toronto, entertained senior students at Archie Stouffer School Thursday. Their appearance was sponsored by the Great Lakes Region-library system.

Cold kills flowering bushes

- Agricultural report -

Do you remember how cold it was last Christmas Eve? Maybe you don't, but many of your shrubs and trees remember it well.

In fact there are large numbers of damaged and even dead plants in gardens and orchards right across Ontario.

The full extent of the winter injury on fruit trees and grapes won't be known for a while yet, in the major fruit growing areas of Ontario.

There is considerable evidence of winter injury on shrubs and trees in the Lindsay area.

Many ornamental evergreens in foundation plantings and hedges have browned patches of foliage, and some plants are completely killed. A number of Japanese Yews, in particular, have been badly damaged.

The Japanese Yew (Taxus cuspidata) is an attractive and very versatile shrub. It is one of the few evergreens which grows well in partial shade. And it definitely is recommended for hardiness in Zone 5a which includes the southern half of Victoria County.

Unfortunately, every now and again we get a night or two of exceptionally cold weather. Then even plants which are hardy, will suffer.

If you have some shrubs or trees which were damaged last winter, check them very carefully before you take action. We've had a late spring, so many plants don't have the growth we normally expect by now. However, some signs of growth should be evident by now if there is still life in the plant.

If you can find some new growth starting, then prune back the dead portions of the plant. If the entire plant is dead, then it will require replacing.

There are some beautiful old, Japanese Yews in this area which were completely killed last winter. Don't hesitate to replace them with new Japanese Yews. No other evergreen can match several of its good qualities. And, with luck, it may be another hundred years before we have another cold spell like last Christmas Eve.

Hog feed conversion
The best feed conversion

for feeder pigs takes place when barn temperatures are in the 15 degree C range. At 30 degrees C at least twice the amount of feed is required to put on a kg. of gain.

With summer weather upon us, feed conversion becomes a greater concern with pork producers.

For pigs weighing 70-120 kg, a good feed conversion is 3.7 kg. of feed per kg. of gain at 15 degrees C. When the temperature rises to 30 degrees C a pig may consume up to 9 kg. of feed per kg. of gain.

To offset this problem there

Official reconfirms policy

The Ontario Ministry of Housing has reconfirmed the procedures required to close road allowances in front of or leading to lakeshore property in the Highlands. The clarification, in the form of a letter from D.G. Henderson, director of the community planning branch of the Ministry of Housing was read at the May 20 meeting of council.

Referring to a letter written in 1950 by the then provincial Premier Leslie Frost and tabled at the April meeting of County Council, Henderson noted that on several occasions in the letter Frost referred to the fact the municipalities must follow the provisions as laid out in the Municipal Act.

Henderson noted that those provisions have remained virtually unchanged. Previously the approval of Cabinet was needed before any municipal by-law closing such allowance would be permitted. Since then the approval has been required just from the Minister of Housing.

Henderson noted that the procedures as outlined in the pamphlet recently circulated by the Housing Ministry are virtually the same as those referred to by Premier Frost in his letter over thirty years ago.

are a number of practices to consider.

It is important to have adequate ventilation. The proper number and displacement of fans is essential.

A pig is a non-sweating animal and must be able to wet its skin by another means during periods of high temperatures. One way of providing moisture is spray cooling. A sprinkler system can be set up in the hog barn. The system may supply a spray of water for two minutes every half hour. The spray would cover the back 4 to 5 ft. of the pen.

Anyone wishing more details on spray cooling should contact the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

Appointments

Haliburton County Council approved a number of appointments at its May 20 meeting.

Chris McRae, a seasonal resident on Kushog Lake, has been appointed to the Haliburton Highlands Water Level Committee. McRae will serve for the year 1981.

Susan Clements has been appointed to the Children Services steering committee to replace Blanche Turner who tendered her resignation. Clements already serves as chairman of the Haliburton County Children's Services Board.

Tact is the act of making a point without making an enemy.

Hint of the Week
Gardening - Mix used tea leaves into the soil of potted plants, as a good fertilizer and soil conditioner. Coffee grounds are also good, especially for plants that like a slight touch of acidity. Geraniums are especially partial to coffee grounds.

Kids Korner
Hope you kids are enjoying this good weather that we are having. The school trips have started, I hope that you kids enjoy them and get a bit of entertainment out of them, along with the educational aspect of them.

Collision kills Gooderham man

An 80 year old Gooderham resident is dead after being struck by a car in front of his residence, one kilometer west of Gooderham on Highway 503.

Dead is Allan J. Haywood. The mishap occurred at approximately 4:20 p.m. on Saturday.

The car which struck Mr. Haywood was driven by Diane McLaughlin, 20, of West Hill, Ontario. She was travelling west when her vehicle collided with Haywood as he attempted to cross the highway.

Haywood was taken by ambulance to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay and then transferred by air ambulance to Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto. The man died before reaching the destination.

Police report that no charges have been laid in the incident.

Constable Bob Wood was the investigating officer.

If you broke your arm in two places, what would you do?

Stay out of those 2 places

Why doesn't it do any good to send a letter to Washington?

Because he's dead

What did the limestone say to the geologist?

Stop taking me for granite

Why did the chicken cross the road?

To get away from Colonel Sanders

Why didn't the skeleton cross the road?

He didn't have the guts

What is grey, has four legs, big ears and a trunk?

A mouse going on a vacation

What's green and noisy and very dangerous?

A thundering herd of pickles

What is purple and has bucket seats?

A foreign sports plum

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.
